WHAT WE DO

Promoting women-centric sustainable institutions that provide end-to-end support in resource mobilisation and establishment of sustainable livelihood models has been our key focus since inception. Our nature of work mainly focuses on service delivery by facilitating the access of the left out to livelihood initiatives from Governments and Corporations through convergence.

Developing inherent capacities of the community and strengthening peer learning through training on best practices in agriculture, horticulture, livestock development, rural entrepreneurship, and developing local community cadre as knowledge and service providers is an integral part of our approach. We also mobilise resources to support new and innovative ventures on harnessing solar energy for Integrated Natural Resource Management.

OUR THEMATIC AREAS

Food and Nutrition Security

Pioneering in integrating unique on-farm and off-farm interventions and nutrition programmes to ensure dietary diversity and enhance the Food and Nutrition Security of the rural tribal households.

Natural Resource Management

Promoting Land and Water Resources Development through watershed management, local governance, barren land cultivation, agro-forestry and sustainable agriculture to ensure water security and enhance biodiversity at the household, farm and village levels.

Increased farm yields, Convergence with markets, Value Addition, Better Prices and Enhanced Incomes.

Livelihood Security

Establishing innovative and sustainable on-farm livelihood models through Improved crop cultivation, Integrated Farming Systems, Livestock Development, and Micro-Entrepreneurship that enhance income levels, ensure reverse migration and achieve economic sustainability.

SOLAR BASED INTERVENTIONS

We provide singular solar solutions to villagers for irrigation, pre and post production management, agri-processing, lighting and drinking water.

Our solar solutions have been able to reduce drudgery of farm labour by providing mechanical solutions without using climate degenerating fossil fuels.

WHO WE ARE

We are an NGO working in the most economically backward and geographically isolated pockets of the country in the three states of Odisha, Chattisgarh and Madhya Pradesh. We work with the rural poor with a special emphasis on women farmers, small entrepreneurs and livestock breeders.

We help them build and nurture sustainable people's institutions, where participation, planning and evaluation of the community play a key role in ushering in change.
